

Who Cares?

A Symposium on Care in Medical Anthropology

Care has recently emerged as a key concept in medical anthropology. But why should we care about care? What does the term offer? In this symposium, we will further develop our understanding of care through conversations based on recent fieldwork. We will consider how other people are using the term, and how our own work might contribute to this ongoing discussion. Join us if you care!

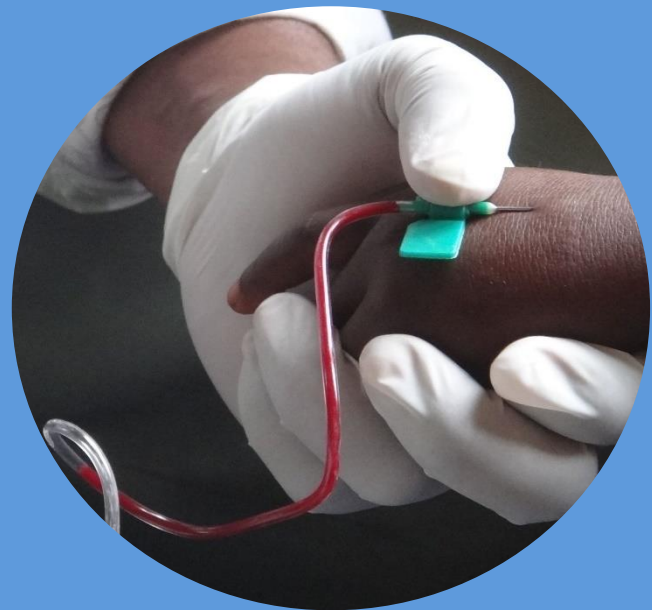

Wednesday, 11th May 2016

10 am-1pm: PhD Students' Presentations

Bridget Bradley, Sandalia Genus, Lilian Kennedy,
Hannah Lesshafft, Chrissie Wanner
Discussant: Alice Street

2-4 pm: Roundtable Discussion

Stefan Ecks, Lucy Lowe, Alex Nading,
Koreen Reece, Alice Street

Room S.37 (2nd floor)
7 George Square
University of Edinburgh

Any queries, please contact:
Hannah Lesshafft, h.lesshafft@sms.ed.ac.uk or Sandalia Genus, s.genus@sms.ed.ac.uk